To whom it may concern,

I am delighted to be writing this letter of support for Alexander Takshyn in his application for dental school. I have known Alexander since 2015 through my son, who he was helping with university work and assignments. Alexander expressed great interest in the field of dentistry and asked to volunteer and shadow me at my clinic. In the past few years, I got to know him both from an academic standpoint, as well as from a social standpoint. I can appreciate firsthand his willingness to help other people as well as his enthusiasm for dentistry.

Alexander is not only an excellent student at York University, but is a very well-rounded, enthusiastic, and determined individual with significant involvement in sports, volunteering, and his numerous job endeavours. I know him to be a very hard-working student and dedicated teacher to others.

As a volunteer in my clinic he has repeatedly shown commitment to patient care and determination to learn more about the field of dentistry. He always comes early and along with the office staff gets ready to evaluate patients and help around the clinic by offering to set-up and clean-up. Alexander is a very compassionate individual who has a great ability in comforting patients through conversation and assistance. He shows great initiative to get involved and goes the extra mile. I remember him offering to help patients walk to their car following a procedure on multiple occasions. He is well liked by my staff and the patients. His passion for dentistry is evident when discussing his future plans and I give him my strongest recommendation to attend dental school.
